

Heart Month is more than candy and a few red balloons.

Expanded cardiology services now available, including the latest interventional procedures.

Speed counts in the case of a heart blockage. In fact, the national standard is for cardiac intervention within 90 minutes of the patient entering the hospital. Thanks to Marshall Medical's expanded cardiology services, patients now have much better access to this life-saving treatment. With two interventional cardiologists, plus our investment in the latest technology, interventional, circulation-restoring procedures can often be performed close to home. During Heart Month, learn more about the cardiac procedures offered at Marshall Medical. It's the most thoughtful thing you can do for those you care about.
